Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Friday 24 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Becoming dry, with some warm sunny spells developing Saturday.

This Evening and Tonight:
A slightly cooler night than of late, with cloud breaks developing in eastern areas in particular. Staying dry for most, although the Pennines may see thicker cloud persist, with the odd spot of drizzle. Becoming breezier towards dawn generally. Minimum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Saturday:
A dry day, with the best of warm sunny spells developing in the clearer east, with western parts slightly cooler with a little more cloud around. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Mainly fine again on Sunday, with further warm sunny spells for many. However, becoming windier later, ahead of a more unsettled, cooler and more showery start to the working week.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.